Docket No. 1901-99

5 August 1999

[REDACTED]

Dear [REDACTED]

This is in reference to your application for correction of your naval record pursuant to the provisions of Title 10, United States Code, Section 1552.

A three-member panel of the Board for Correction of Naval Records, sitting in executive session, considered your application on 4 August 1999. Your allegations of error and injustice were reviewed in accordance with administrative regulations and procedures applicable to the proceedings of this Board. Documentary material considered by the Board consisted of your application, together with all material submitted in support thereof, your naval record and applicable statutes, regulations and policies.

After careful and conscientious consideration of the entire record, the Board found that the evidence submitted was insufficient to establish the existence of probable material error or injustice.

The Board found that you enlisted in the Naval Reserve on 3 March 1992 for eight years at age 19. You were ordered to active duty for a period of two years on 10 March 1992.

The record reflects that you were referred to the recruit evaluation unit (REU) after you complained at sick call that you did not want to be in the Navy and could not handle the stress and pressure. The REU consultation report states that during your interview with a psychologist you reported that you had sexual relations with two males and six females, preferred being with males, and had homosexual thoughts while showering with your shipmates. You also disclosed that between the ages of 16-18 you had seen a psychologist for family problems and suicidal ideation. While you denied any suicidal ideation, this behavior was expected to escalate if you remained in recruit training as a way to get out of the military. You were diagnosed with an occupational problem and schizoid personality traits. Separation was strongly recommended due to your pre-service homosexual acts.

On 2 April 1992 you were notified that an entry level separation was being considered by reason of defective enlistment and induction due to erroneous enlistment as evidenced by information disclosed during the REU interview. You were advised of your procedural rights and chose to waive them. Nor did you object to being discharged. Thereafter, the discharge authority directed an entry level separation by reason of erroneous enlistment and assignment of an RE-4 reenlistment code. You received an uncharacterized entry level separation on 17 April 1992.

Regulations authorize the assignment of an RE-4 reenlistment code to individuals who are separated by reason of erroneous enlistment. The Board noted your statement and particularly your contention that you lied to the Navy's psychologist about being a homosexual because you could not deal with recruit training. You claimed that you were told that only way to get discharged was to either be gay or have injured yourself in training.

The Board is not sympathetic to individuals who obtain discharges through fraudulent means. The Board has no way of determining what your true statement is, the one you are making now, or the statements you made to extricate yourself from your reserve commitment. It is well established in law that an individual who perpetrates fraud in order to be discharged should not benefit from the fraud when it is later discovered. The Board noted that you could have also been processed for separation for your admitted pre-service homosexual acts or for fraudulent enlistment due to your failure to disclose those acts at the time of enlistment. Both of these reasons require the assignment of an RE-4 reenlistment code. Since homosexuality is incompatible with military service, the Board concluded that the reenlistment code is proper and no change is warranted. Accordingly, your application has been denied. The names and votes of the members of the panel will be furnished upon request.

It is regretted that the circumstances of your case are such that favorable action cannot be taken. You are entitled to have the Board reconsider its decision upon submission of new and material evidence or other matter not previously considered by the Board. In this regard, it is important to keep in mind that a presumption of regularity attaches to all official records.

Consequently, when applying for a correction of an official naval record, the burden is on the applicant to demonstrate the existence of probable material error or injustice.

Sincerely,

W. DEAN PFEIFFER
Executive Director
